SPEAKS FOR HIS PEOPLE

Bettis Makes an Eloquer to the Fegro Pass Associat At a recent meeting of the Western Negro Press association held in Kansas City, Kan., Mr. W. A. Bettis of this city delivered an address which attracted considerable attention. Mr. Bettis was so sincere and eloquent that his speech was the cause of a resolution being passed by the convention advocat-ing his views. Mr. Bettis returned home last evening. His speceh is given verbatum: "If at any time the peace and welfare of this government should be threatened and the chief executive of the nUited States would issue a call for volunteers to uphold and keep affoat the stars and stripes, within twenty-four hours 500,000 loyal and patriotic black Americans would be marching to the national capital, ready and willing to offer up their lives in defense of Old Glory. But, however regular may be the pulsations of patriotism within his bosom, or however avenue of a complication of typhoid feardent his loyalty to the flag, in many parts of this mob-ridden country the negro is really a citizen in theory and not dence and the remains buried at Waco.

"Surrounded by he benign influence of our great American civilization, and under a constitution supposed to guarantee to every citizen a right to trial by jury, negroes are almost daily lynched and tortured in the most barbarous manner. While the seat of barbarity has heretofore been confined principally to the south, of late other localities have vied with southern hotheads for the murderous honors, and even Ohio, the birthplace of so many illustrious men, has recently demonstrated that she is well up in the art of human butchery; and that even in the old Buckeye state, and by the party we pride so highly, it is possibly to elect a governor to whom the rights and protection of a negro citizen are of small concern. "Mob violence in this "land of the free and home of the brave' has assumed at once to such enormous proportions that every law abiding citizen who believes in the perpetuity of our free institutions, has of late given the matter most serious consideration; and trembles, as well he may, for the future welfare of any government where mob violence is rampant and human butchery a common

"In considering mob violence and fits remedies, if ny, one of the first queries that penetrates the mind of the average citizen is, "Can the national government suppress it?" To an Englishman, reared under a monarchial government, the task would seem an exceedingly light one; to a Russian who knows only of a czar and his absolute sway, the task would seem even lighter; but in the United tates, a republic consisting of different states, and each state a distinct sovereign in itself, the subject is far more complicated. Oftimes certain conditions present themselves and various contingencies arise within the national government is clothed with absolute power to suppress mob violence. "One of he few commendable acts of President Cleveland's public life was the prompt and expeditious manner in which he suppressed the Chicago riot, when a howling mob, absolutely regardless of the rights of life and property, was runnink wild in the streets of that city. His action in this case is often referred to and wrongfully cited as a precedent to demonstrate that the chief executive is clothed with a right to interfere and protect life and property at all times in the several states without gubernatorial

"Although the actions of the president in that case have been severely criticized by Governor Altgeld and other prominent men of his party, it is generally conceded by most eminent jurists that he exercised a wise discretion in the premer vested in him by law, uBt the clas of mob violence in the Chicago case is so signed herself very prettily, "Emily very different from the form of lawlessdeeply interested.

ness in which we are at this time most "When a mob in its murderous work interferes with theien atertsvaoiU'hasW interferes with the interstate commerce, he consulted his attorney, Julius H. Wyobstructs the passage of the mails, or interferes with the execution of the federal election law, then the strong arm the accuracy of some of the statements of the national government may assert itself; othewise it is powerless to act, except by request of the governor of the about $50 in cabling. He sent a mes-

"The many anti-lynching resolutions passed by national conventions for the past twenty years have proven to be nothing more or less than political built class of unsuspecting voters; principally black ones. The great extent to which our people have been deceived by such bancomb, is made evident by the vast believe that in every presidential campaign the suppression of lynch law is really a political issue. No idea could be more remote from the actual conditions, and it is high time that our peo-L. W. Cleveland vs. Joseph Glichrists ple understand that lynching, if supstates and not by a Republican or Democratic president. "Every state has its own police pow ers and regulations for the apprehension of criminals, and every state in the union has ample power to protect all prisoners from mob violence; and when such protection is not accorded prisoners it is generally due to a murderous prejudice entertained by the currounding community and the officers in charge, who have not sufficient manhood stand up and discharge the duties they are under oath to perform. Such con-Islation. Other pressures must be brougt to bear; public centiment must be molded; and, by the wa, no factor is more potent in moving and swaying pubic sentiment than the press. Unite the the decision of the attorney general. press of this country in favor of law and | These instructions were issued when it order and lynching would soon be but a barbarous relic of the past. Some of our leading men tell us that as soon as the negro is educated lynching will cease, ada, am not only in favor of education for the negro, but I believe in a higher edupremacy of the law. I believe it is the duty of the negro press of the country ing our race, that they may know that the better element of our race are not eriminals and do not sympathics with we all look alike, we are neverfibeless as different in individual characteristics and dispositions as any rare on earth; teach them of the grave injustice of branding an entirer ace with the victors acts of a few deprayed criminals, and, in our united effort, let us inculcate in the minds of the American people the fundamental principle of all good government-equally beforet he law, which means that no man is above the law; no

The resolution adopted condemned the 25 to lynching of negrous, and pledging the essociation to do all in its power to bring a stop to this practice through the legislature and state officers. It was also decided that in the future the word 'negro," referring to a colored American citizen, should be spelled with a capital "N." > AT DYEA AND SKAGUAY. Seattle, Wash., Sept. 2.-The steamer Farallone arrived last night, eix days from Dyea and Skaguay. The officers of the steamer tell interesting stories of the condition of affairs at both landings. They say that at Dyea the people are slowly but surely crossing the divide, and the road for ten miles up the canyou is strewn with tents, provisions, discarded baggage and dead horses. Less than 1,000 people are on the beach at Dyea, as all efforts to get across the di> vide as soon as landed. At Skaguay things present a different appearance, there being between 5,000 and 6,000 people at that place. Less than fifty men have succeeded in getting across White Pass and hundreds have given up trying to cross it until spring. Steamer officers say rain has fallen continuously there for eight days and that it is utterly impossible to cross, kinds of business is flourishing. Many men are selling outfits for little or nothing, while others are buying everything offered for sale and using the same to stock general retail stores, which they are setting up on the beach. A saloonkeeper at Dyea is buying flour, emptying it in a heap in a tent and selling the

The Farallone brings confirmation of the reports that the trail has been almost impassable on account of rain and nud. At many places on the traff the mud is from one to four feet deep and men with packs on their backs mire down and have to be pulled out. A letter on the Farallone states that one day last week 100 men sold their outfits at a eacrifice and started back.
